

AFTER DAILY BREAD.

Patient Men, Children and Women at "The World's" Depot.

A Hungry Crowd Watches the Wagons Unload.

Hundreds Made Happy by This Timely Charity.

"Give us this day our daily bread"—"And I wish to God they'd give us a cut of that bacon in the window there." The prayer was reverently uttered by a preacher with a straw hat and a white shirt, who was preaching to a crowd of men, women and children gathered in front of the "World's" depot. The prayer was uttered by a preacher with a straw hat and a white shirt, who was preaching to a crowd of men, women and children gathered in front of the "World's" depot.

There was an artist in the crowd, too, looking for a pair of feet to put on a painted saint; there was a mischievous Harry Connor in his boy's suit, with his fifty steel between him and an "L" road support, and there was a well-known club woman who loves to do good. These lookers-on were more conspicuous than the minister.

The depot was invisible. Backed up to the curbstone were two big brown vans, loaded to the roof. From the vans, a steady stream of food was being unloaded. The warm loaves of bread in the willow hampers, and it was with difficulty that an almsman could keep his transfer could be kept open across the sidewalk.

There must have been 200 people about the premises watching the unloading. It was a proud, patient, tidy, quiet crowd, struggling between poverty and despair. Oddly enough it was three-quarters men. There is a certain amount of charity even among the humblest, and these unfortunate fellows had shared their wives the humility of coming for World bread.

They did not call it free bread, but "World bread." To have referred to it as "poor bread," would have been cruel. The features of this little army may be as variable as the day, but at 5 o'clock this morning it was interesting to a degree.

Patience attempts had been made to spruce up. There were "mill" and meeting dresses among the women. There were grim-faced men with their jaws firmly set, who philosophized on economy of the anti-sox theory, and these unfortunate fellows had shared their wives the humility of coming for World bread.

There were two specimens of millinery work among the fair sex. One was a little pinkie with a bow and a bow of cheery cloth; the other was a sugar-loaf shape trimmed with English wild roses. The recent storm had blighted and naturalized.

Most of the women had their hopes in the past, and their aged-limbed eyes were dimming with tears. One woman, a Quaker, was wearing a blue and white dress; some had the bang over the ear; some were jeered at by the rebellious silver locks that hung from their heads. Most of the women had their hopes in the past, and their aged-limbed eyes were dimming with tears.

There were two specimens of millinery work among the fair sex. One was a little pinkie with a bow and a bow of cheery cloth; the other was a sugar-loaf shape trimmed with English wild roses. The recent storm had blighted and naturalized.

Most of the women had their hopes in the past, and their aged-limbed eyes were dimming with tears. One woman, a Quaker, was wearing a blue and white dress; some had the bang over the ear; some were jeered at by the rebellious silver locks that hung from their heads.

MRS. HUNT SET FREE.

Justice Hogan Discharges Her at Mrs. Foster's Request.

Mrs. Vesta Viola Hunt, of 88 Macdonald street, who was arrested charged with soliciting by Police Officer James E. Murphy, of the 10th Precinct, on Saturday night, and was sentenced to two months on the island by Justice Hogan at Jefferson Market on Sunday morning, who was by the same magistrate this morning, as a commitment to Mrs. John E. Foster, the charitable woman who was arrested about the "Prison Angel."

"The Justice wanted it perfectly understood that she had not discharged the woman because he believed her story of respectability. Justice Hogan told Mrs. Foster that he would discharge the prisoner on her account without making any investigation."

There was no testimony taken, but Thomas Gilroy, the ward detective of the 10th Precinct, testified that he had seen the woman in the house in which the woman lived once himself, and knew of it being raided several times by other men in the precinct.

Mrs. Foster told the court that she had tried to do something of the kind, but that the woman's career, but that the worst thing she could do about her was that she "cheered" her.

IS THIS A SUICIDE?

Body of a Well-Dressed Man Found in the Harlem River.

The body of an unknown man was found floating in the Harlem River this morning at 10 o'clock this morning by William H. Burns, an employee of the Hudson River Railroad Company. The man was apparently about fifty years old, was dressed in dark, well-tailored trousers and a black shirt, and was wearing a white shirt and a white tie.

On his person were found an open-faced watch, marked "H. B. & Co.," a small leather pocketbook, containing a few dollars, a pen-knife, a pair of silver-rimmed eyeglasses, a key-ring, and a paper containing two postage stamps and a paper, which was a letter from a woman to a man, dated August 28, 1933.

The body was found in the Harlem River, near the 100th Street station, and was taken to the coroner's office. The coroner's office is at the corner of 100th Street and the Harlem River.

ALMOST LOST IN HARBOR.

The Sloop Yacht Jarvie's Party Rescued at Northport.

NORTHPORT, Aug. 30.—The sloop Northport last night found the tug Jarvie, of New York, with four barges in tow, on Long Island Sound off Huntington Harbor. The sloop was in the harbor, and the tug was in the harbor.

The sloop was in the harbor, and the tug was in the harbor. The sloop was in the harbor, and the tug was in the harbor. The sloop was in the harbor, and the tug was in the harbor.

Brooklyn Finances.

Comptroller Corwin Gives Out the Annual Statement for 1932.

Comptroller Corwin, of Brooklyn, this morning gave out the annual statement, showing the financial condition of the city for 1932. The statement shows that the city's finances were in a state of improvement.

WILL NOT PROSECUTE BUSH.

Charges of Brutal Clubbing Against the Policeman Withdrawn.

The complaint made against Officer Bush, of the Fourteenth Precinct, for brutally clubbing Joseph Stone last winter in Huber's Museum, was withdrawn today by Justice Hogan. The complaint was made against Officer Bush, of the Fourteenth Precinct, for brutally clubbing Joseph Stone last winter in Huber's Museum.

A HIGHWAYMAN "FOR FUN."

Fitzpatrick's Excuse for Holding Up a Woman Withdrawn.

Alexander Fitzpatrick, eighteen years old, who says he is a driver, living at 54 Madison street, was held for trial this morning in the Essex Market Police Court. The complaint was made against Officer Bush, of the Fourteenth Precinct, for brutally clubbing Joseph Stone last winter in Huber's Museum.

Speculation in Coffee Active.

The market for coffee was active today, with prices showing a slight increase. The market for coffee was active today, with prices showing a slight increase.

GOLDBURG MUST EXPLAIN.

Justice Giegerich Scores the Lawyer and Charges Perjury.

Papers in the Case Will Be Sent to the Grand Jury.

Justice Giegerich, of the Court of Common Pleas, today decided to send the papers in the case of Morris Moses against G. M. Miller to the Grand Jury for its consideration. The case was brought to settle an account of partners, the plaintiff claiming that there was a balance due him.

The case was brought to settle an account of partners, the plaintiff claiming that there was a balance due him. The case was brought to settle an account of partners, the plaintiff claiming that there was a balance due him.

The case was brought to settle an account of partners, the plaintiff claiming that there was a balance due him. The case was brought to settle an account of partners, the plaintiff claiming that there was a balance due him.

The case was brought to settle an account of partners, the plaintiff claiming that there was a balance due him. The case was brought to settle an account of partners, the plaintiff claiming that there was a balance due him.

COMMERCIAL BANK RECEIVER.

William W. Dykman Appointed by Judge Pennington.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—On application of the Attorney-General of the State, represented by Mr. John M. Hogan, and with the concurrence of Judge Pennington, Judge Pennington has appointed William W. Dykman, of Brooklyn, as receiver of the Commercial Bank of Poughkeepsie.

BRUNNER WANTS $50 INSURANCE ON HER HUSBAND.

Thekla Brunner, of 109 Avenue D, has brought suit in the City Court, through her lawyer, August P. Wagnier, against the Western Insurance Company, of New York, for $50,000, claiming that the company has refused to pay the insurance on her husband's life.

HERE'S ANOTHER CYCLOPE.

There is a Chance that New York May Escape It.

According to Weather Service Smith, who so truly prophesied the big storm of Tuesday night, there is a probability of another storm of the same sort striking this part of the country within forty-eight hours.

NAMED FOR THE ASSEMBLY.

Allegany and Chautauque County Republican Nominations.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The Chautauque County Republican Convention today elected a slate of nominees for the coming year. The nominees were elected to the County Legislature and to the County Executive.

AFTER THREE MURDERERS.

Supposed to Be Among the Dressed in Passengers.

Acting on information from the clerk of the Erie Railroad, the Erie Railroad today issued a notice to its passengers, warning them that three men, who were believed to be among the passengers of the steamship President, had been arrested for the murder of a woman.

FOREST FIRES IN FRANCE.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—Forest fires have burned for two days near Fontenay, in the Department of the Somme, and have destroyed eighty hectares of timber. The fires were caused by a lightning strike.

Alderman Volckening's Companion Saved by a Policeman.

(Continued from First Page.)

for any damage was done the group was bailed away and towed to safe anchorage.

DAMAGE DONE AT CHAUTAUQUE.

Buildings Wrecked and Trees Blown Down by the Dozen.

RUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Never in the history of Chautauque has so much damage been done as was done yesterday. The town was struck by a storm, and many buildings were wrecked and trees blown down.

EMPIRE STATE'S DORY FOUND.

The Crew of the Vessel Supposed to Have Been Drowned.

BRADLEY BEACH, S. I., Aug. 30.—Fisherman Harry Maddox picked up a small dory this morning on this beach with the name Empire State on it. It was in good condition.

SUES A BURIAL FUND.

Mrs. Brunner Wants $50 Insurance on Her Husband.

Thekla Brunner, of 109 Avenue D, has brought suit in the City Court, through her lawyer, August P. Wagnier, against the Western Insurance Company, of New York, for $50,000, claiming that the company has refused to pay the insurance on her husband's life.

BRITISH CRUISER BLANCHE ARRIVES AT THE ISLAND OF KISMAYOO.

ZANZIBAR, Aug. 30.—The British cruiser Blanche, which was sent to the island of Kismayoo, arrived there today. The ship was sent to the island to protect British interests.

NO CHANGE IN THE INJURED.

Interest Centered in the Newtown Inquest To-Night.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Aug. 30.—At St. John's Hospital today it was said there was no change in the condition of the injured taken from the wreck of the Long Island Railroad at Berlin Junction Saturday night.

Engineer Muir Killed.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Aug. 30.—Robert E. Muir, of this city, passenger engineer on the Monon, was killed Monday night at Harrisburg. The train was struck by a locomotive.

WHEAT AND COTTON WEAK.

Drop in Foreign Market Affects Local Dealings.

Wheat was lower in the local market today, with a corresponding drop in the price of flour. The drop was caused by a drop in the foreign market.

Tows Broken Apart and Boats Wrecked by the Gale.

Bodies Washed Ashore at Stony Point—$200,000 Damage Done.

Reports coming in this morning from points along the Hudson River state that a number of lives have been lost by the breaking up of big tows in yesterday's storm.

A big tow broke apart between Sing Sing and Verplanck's Point, and it is rumored that seven bodies have been washed ashore at Stony Point. The tow was broken apart by the force of the wind.

The Moran towboat Bell, which has arrived at Albany, reports picking up twelve of the thirty canal-boats that got adrift night before last. Eight other canal-boats were picked up at different points.

Mr. Moran said this morning that ten of the boats were either washed ashore or sunk. They were valued at $200 each.

The loss to river shipping is estimated by A. B. Valentine, general agent of the Cornell line, to be fully $200,000.

Two of the Strikers Arrested for Throwing Stones.

Thomas Warren and Michael Murphy, two striking longshoremen, were before Justice Martin, in the Tombs Court, this morning charged with throwing stones at Italians who were working at the Clyde steamship pier.

Two of the Strikers Arrested for Throwing Stones.

Thomas Warren and Michael Murphy, two striking longshoremen, were before Justice Martin, in the Tombs Court, this morning charged with throwing stones at Italians who were working at the Clyde steamship pier.

Two of the Strikers Arrested for Throwing Stones.

Thomas Warren and Michael Murphy, two striking longshoremen, were before Justice Martin, in the Tombs Court, this morning charged with throwing stones at Italians who were working at the Clyde steamship pier.

Two of the Strikers Arrested for Throwing Stones.

Thomas Warren and Michael Murphy, two striking longshoremen, were before Justice Martin, in the Tombs Court, this morning charged with throwing stones at Italians who were working at the Clyde steamship pier.

Two of the Strikers Arrested for Throwing Stones.

Thomas Warren and Michael Murphy, two striking longshoremen, were before Justice Martin, in the Tombs Court, this morning charged with throwing stones at Italians who were working at the Clyde steamship pier.

Two of the Strikers Arrested for Throwing Stones.

Dirk Hattericks Replaced by Clever Revenue Cheaters.

Shrewd Devices of Men and Women Who Evade the Law.

Instead of a run by night in an open boat from the French coast to the shores of Hampshire, Sussex, Essex or Kent, we have to content ourselves in these prosaic times with petty attempts to cheat the revenue, for which women are more frequently responsible than men, says London Society.

Such an incident once happened at Belfast, where an Irish woman named Mary MacMahon was brought to the Police Court charged with keeping whiskey on the premises, which were unlicensed. She was fined £10.

Upon searching her the Sergeant came upon thirty-six bottles of porter and two bottles of whiskey, stored away in her petticoats. To the inexpressible amusement of the spectators the Sergeant produced the petticoats in court.

Each petticoat was made of coarse sack, and was air with innumerable pockets, all of them lined with soft cloth, so as to keep the bottles from clinking and possibly breaking each other.

Unhappily for poor Mary MacMahon, the petticoats whiskey and porter were confiscated by the relentless policeman, and the chief delinquent was sent to jail for three months. I entertain no doubt that the hearty sympathies of nine-tenths of those present in court went with Mary MacMahon to the jail.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

SMUGGLING LOSSES ROMANCE.

Shrewd Devices of Men and Women Who Evade the Law.

Instead of a run by night in an open boat from the French coast to the shores of Hampshire, Sussex, Essex or Kent, we have to content ourselves in these prosaic times with petty attempts to cheat the revenue, for which women are more frequently responsible than men, says London Society.

Such an incident once happened at Belfast, where an Irish woman named Mary MacMahon was brought to the Police Court charged with keeping whiskey on the premises, which were unlicensed. She was fined £10.

Upon searching her the Sergeant came upon thirty-six bottles of porter and two bottles of whiskey, stored away in her petticoats. To the inexpressible amusement of the spectators the Sergeant produced the petticoats in court.

Each petticoat was made of coarse sack, and was air with innumerable pockets, all of them lined with soft cloth, so as to keep the bottles from clinking and possibly breaking each other.

Unhappily for poor Mary MacMahon, the petticoats whiskey and porter were confiscated by the relentless policeman, and the chief delinquent was sent to jail for three months. I entertain no doubt that the hearty sympathies of nine-tenths of those present in court went with Mary MacMahon to the jail.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

There has, we fear, never been a time in Scotland or Ireland when smuggling was so rampant as it is now. The State has been unable to prevent the smuggling of goods, and the revenue has been lost.

A ROLL.

Carpet don't rest a roll of Money at the new store. Such wonderful bargains as these are hard to come by. Cause they are so very uncommon.

$1.40 3 SHOOT WILTON VELVETS Reduced to 85c. Made, Laid and Lined. BEST QUALITY TAPESTRY BRUSSELS, FORMER PRICE $1.05; Reduced to 75c. Made, Laid and Lined. Lots of other bargains and lots of new goods.

J. & J. DOBSON 2 East 14th Street, Formerly 10-12 West 14th St.

Leading Congressmen Name the Twenty-five Most Prominent Americans in the Next Sunday World.

YOU MANS. FALL STYLE HATS NOW READY.

Authorized agents in every city. 158, 1107, and 1109 Broadway. CHICAGO POLICE FEAR A RIOT. Five Hundred Officers Sent to a Labor Meeting.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—A enormous crowd of men and women has congregated on the lake front for the purpose of holding a mass-meeting. The number of people assembled is so very much larger than expected that 500 policemen have been sent to the lake front to keep order.

Two New Cases of Cholera Reported in Berlin. BERLIN, Aug. 30.—Two fresh cases of Asiatic cholera have been reported today in this city. Both were caused by the drinking of city water. The newspapers demand that the city waterworks at Stralun on the spree be closed, as they are believed to be infected.

Optimism Snuffed Out. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—The steamer Monterey arrived from Panama, B. C., Monday night, and yesterday one of the sailors was caught in the act of smuggling opium ashore. An officer was sent to the ship to investigate.

Cardena Party Will D-b-and. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 30.—Dr. Plutarco Cardena, Mexican consul here, has been notified that the Cardena party in the State of Coahuila have signed their desire to leave the State to join the army and fight.

Appointed Passenger Agent. CINCINNATI, Aug. 30.—The formal announcement has been made by Receiver Spelman of the appointment of W. G. Einarson as passenger agent of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific road beginning Sept. 1.

Local News in Brief. Sarah and Laura Bradley, colored, charged with joining in a riot at the fair grounds, were held for trial today. The fair grounds are in the city of St. Louis.

Various Business Troubles. Hous, Barnett & Co., Evansville, Ind., in the middle of a long and bitter fight to secure an independent of $100,000. The fight is being fought in the courts.

PENGUINS AS FOOD. Penguins are the strangest creatures on the face of the earth. They are found in the Southern Hemisphere, and are known for their ability to swim and fly.